Hello Kenneth.
First year - Latin - History and Orchestra - with you in those classes - also Algebra. I can't forget the picnic - next years
Orchestra picnic - I don't think it will be me. Don't forget the
Orch. picnic - my headache - you
Chicken - ice Cream pies and the several tennis games I won from you! Ha! Ha! I would have a mean old day without remembering that! Well sweetheart remember me, and write soon. Oh! I do!

Yours truly

ADMINISTRATION and CLASSES

THE SCHOOL BOARD

In any Union High School Distict, the governing board is composed of five members, who are elected at large from the elementary school districts composing the Union District.

Powers and duties of the Board of Trustees are such as are now or may hereafter be assigned by law, except as may otherwise be provided by the School Code of the State of California.

The Board has the right to prescribe and enforce rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law or with those prescribed by the state board, for their own government and for the government of the school or schools under their jurisdiction; to call elections for the issuance of bonds; to select employees; to arrange for the organization of school units; and to provide suitable and ample school accommodations, consistent with good work and the financial ability of the district.

It also acts as a kind of shock absorber between patrons who want better and higher education, and the public with its ever increasing demands for tax reduction.

Objectives of the local board have been: to better acquaint the public with the work of the high school; to give patrons an insight into the things accomplished; to give them a better understanding of the costs of education; and, particularly, to see that the public gets full value, and more by comparison, for every dollar of tax money expended.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

During four brief years of student activities, the class of 1932 has earnestly endeavored to uphold the standards of C. U. H. S., and has undertaken and accomplished tasks which have proven their valor and spirit.

Winning the Clark trophy in 1928, the seniors have been active in all debating and public speaking events. This year's inter-class debate team was composed of Weynard Bailey, Maude Alexander, Everette Newton, Catherine White, Rebecca McCall, and Eleanor Maguire, all of whom, with the exception of Rebecca McCall and Maude Alexander, participated in the oratorical contest, Eleanor Maguire placing first in the local finals. In the essay contest, Catherine White and Weynard Bailey represented the class, the latter carrying away first honors.

Senior members of the Scholarship Society for the year 1931-32 were Lois Ladd, Herman Reed, Mary Mullins, Walter Huckabay, Earl Hough, Eleanor Maguire, Maude Alexander, and Robert Clarke, who has been a member throughout his high school career.

When the A. S. B. sponsored the tree planting ceremony on March 8, the fourth year class responded by presenting a sycamore tree to beautify the grounds.

Members who took part in the operetta were Weynard Bailey, Vida McElyea, Katherine Van Derpoel, Leona Simonds, Irene Bennett, Alice Mae Poppett, and George Parks. In the drama, "Kick In", Vida McElyea, Oscar Lewis, Maude Alexander, Everette Newton, Katherine Van Derpoel, and Vincent Alexander, had roles.

On Feb. 26, the annual matinee dance was held, and on Senior Night, Dec. 4, "Adam's Apple" was presented.

Boys of the fourth year group who participated in athletics were: Football—W. Bailey, L. Wilkins, I. Castle, R. Hendrickson, W. Hendrickson, B. Cline, E. Hough, R. Clarke, J. Seinturier, V. Alexander, P. Willems, L. Plummer, and D. Diess. Basketball—E. Hough, R. Hendrickson, G. Maltzberger, R. Cocking, and M. Abber. Track—I. Castle, J. Seinturier, W. Bailey, V. Alexander, R. Hendrickson, G. Maltzberger, A. Crunk, E. Hough, and C. Webb. Baseball—E. Hough, G. Maltzberger, A. Crunk, W. Bailey, L. Plummer, and A. McNeil. Tennis—T. Maxwell, W. Huckabay, P. Willems, L. Malone, and E. Newton.

Senior girls active in sports were: Basketball—F. McKenney, M. Black, E. Crowder, C. Gray, V. McElyea, M. Mullins, L. Simonds, T. Templeton, K. Van Derpoel, and R. Weiser. Horseshoes—H. Clarke, and H. De Alton. Handball—L. Simonds, E. Crowder, and F. McKenney. Speedball—E. I. Jones, M. Alexander, M. Black, C. Gray, R. McCall, V. McElyea, F. McKenney, M. Mullins, A. Poppett, L. Simonds, J. Taylor, K. Van Derpoel, and R. Weiser. Track—K. Van Derpoel and M. Black. Volleyball—M. Black, D. Doty, E. I. Jones, R. McCall, V. McElyea, R. Templeton, K. Van Derpoel, R. Weiser, M. Mullins, and A. Poppett.

In passing, it is hoped that the influence wielded by the graduating class will have a beneficial effect on the school and its activities in the years to come, and that the associations formed from high school experiences may be lasting and develop more fully in the future.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

By its activities during the past three years, the class of 1933 has shown itself capable of assuming the responsibilities and duties of fourth year students. Officers included Dean Olson, president; Marvin Hargrove, vice-president; Dorothy Savage, recording secretary; Winifred Olsen, corresponding secretary; and Morris Olsen, treasurer.

The juniors have participated in a variety of school events, ranging from tap dancing and high hurdles to pie-sales. Composing the debate team were Mary Reedy, Lillian Darlington, Leroy Stanton, Frances Hiberly, Bruce Eckerson, and Rolland Stone. Joy Tuller and Rolland Stone also competed in the oratorical contest.

Junior members of the Scholarship Society for the current year were Doretta Kahuda, Leroy Stanton, Wanda Cook, Marvin Hargrove, Rolland Stone, Veda Buffum, Eva Glenn, Frances Hiberly, and Mary Garrett.

Members who had roles in "Kick In" were Mary Jane Andrews and Rolland Stone; while H. B. Lindy, Joe Frame, John Caster, Ray Hunter, and Tom Templeton had parts in the operetta, "Oh, Doctor!"

On the afternoon of November 19 the class sponsored its yearly "hop," and on February 5 "His Blue Serge Suit," a one-act comedy, was given as the outstanding feature of the class night program.

Girls active in sports were: Basketball—W. Cook, R. Andis, K. Beckner, M. Bridges, V. Buffum, V. Gough, F. Hiberly, B. Le Lansky, and J. Tuller. Horseshoes—I Demmer, E. Eldridge, and L. Richmond. SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Engineering the sophomores this season were Bob Powell, president; Jack Hubbs, vice-president; and Eunice Baney, secretary-treasurer.

Throughout the year, various class members participated in forensics and succeeded in "bringing home the bacon." Among these were Mary Ann Peterson, who placed second in the oratorical contest; and Hope Reed, Eleanor Logan, Harry Locklin, Eunice Baney, Jack Hubbs, and Josephine Andrews, who also competed in the class try-outs.

The inter-class debaters, Hope Reed and Eleanor Logan, won the Clark cup, and Mary Ann Peterson and Hope Reed gained places in the tournament at Redlands. Those in the finals of the essay contest were Eleanor Logan and Hope Reed, the latter having received second place.

Play projects were started and carried out successfully. Among the dramas presented were: "Human," for the Christmas program; and "Do You Believe In Luck," "Pierret," and "His Best Seller," for the assembly on January 26. Sophomores also gained parts in the operetta and the A. S. B. play; Eunice Baney, Mary Ann Peterson, Gwendolyn Howell, Wayne Watson, and Ernest Corona taking part in the former; while Helen Broderson, Charles Tilden, Jack Hubbs, and Ernest Corona had roles in "Kick In."

At Christmas time the sophomores, who won five dollars for the best booth, contributed the prize to the local welfare fund.

In order to celebrate George Washington's bi-centennial birthday anniversary, a tree planting ceremony was held, at which time the second year students presented a live oak to aid in beautifying the grounds.

Boys who won their letters in various sports were: Class "B" basketball—W. Watson, K. Sakato, H. Hough, F. Cerda, and R. Powell. Class "C" basketball—D. Jones, and captain J. Hubbs. Class "D" basketball—C. Savage, and W. Allingham. Class "C" football—R. McNair, L. West, J. Roberts, M. Hastings, and K. Sakato. Varsity track—R. Powell, R. McNair, and C. Tilden. Class "C" track—R. Miller, R. Hernandez, and L. West.

Sophomore girls who were active in sports, and made the class teams were: Speedball—K. Lindelof, N. Lee, M. Duke, M. Wear, F. Busbee, H. Reed, E. Baney, H. Broderson, M. Shimazu, M. Tillman, and M. Crowley. Volleyball—E. Baney, M. Tillman, N. Lee, M. Downing, M. Duke, H. Broderson, M. Wear, K. Lindelof, and F. Busbee. Inter-class horseshoe—M. Nauret, M. Shimazu, and M. Wear. Handball—M. Peterson, P. Jenkins, and M. Rornes. Basketball—K. Lindelof, H. Reed, M. Crowley, M. Tillman, M. Duke, V. Sprinkel, O. Tuller, and N. Lee.

Under the supervision of the advisers, Mrs. Josephine Atherton and Coach Norman Fawley, the sophomore crew experienced a successful second year in Colton high school.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

They are the freshmen, one hundred and sixty strong! Their distinguished career as frosh began one autumnal morn when they trouped gaily up the foot-worn steps of Colton High and into the mighty halls of learning.

Electing Joe Reedy, president; Harlan Gough, vice-president; Herma Corgill, secretary; and Virginia Hewitt, treasurer, they soon began their activities.

When "Freshman Day" was planned, the advisers, E. C. Battin and H. C. Beltz, notified members that they would have to suffer the indignity of wearing green bibs. But what fun! The scornful upper-classmen did their best to torture them, but to no avail. The frosh spirit was undaunted.

On the eve of November 12, Mary Huckabay and Florence Miller represented their class in the essay contest, winning third and fourth places, respectively.

During February Paul Wear, Norma Davidson, Clea McPhie, Mildred Crilly, Mary Huckabay, and Florence Miller took part in the inter-class debate tournaments.

Members of the freshman class whose names appeared on the scholarship roll during the second semester were Jacqueline Sapp, Selma Allred, Mary Huckabay, Florence Miller, and Dorthy Miller.

Winners of the freshman oratorical contest, which took place in April, were Jacqueline Sapp, Florence Miller, Mary Huckabay, Selma Allred, and Phyllis Williams.

First year students participated in athletics, displaying a great amount of energy, skill, and spirit. Girls who made the basketball team were D. Jones, S. Allred, J. Cline, M. Huckabay, S. De Alton, J. Price, and F. Miller, members of the "All-Colton" squad being D. Jones and J. Cline. The vollyball line-up consisted of N. Eldridge, H. Dacre, E. Larsen, S. Allred, D. Jones, M. Huckabay, D. Edwards, N. Kennedy, and F. Miller. Those who made the "All-Colton" were N. Eldridge, H. Dacre, D. Edwards, and D. Jones.

Although the previously mentioned groups won blue ribbons, which is a singular honor, the speedball team defeated the sophomore, junior, and senior squads, and thus became champions. At playday they also won blue ribbons. Class speedball members were E. Larsen, N. Kennedy, D. Price, N. Eldridge, L. Olsen, D. Jones, J. Cline, and D. Edwards.

The boys, too, were exceedingly active in sports. The freshman baseball team, which consisted of E. Dennington, D. Marquez, H. Gough, B. Cranford, A. Ramuez, C. Ruiz, H. Hill, R. Pena, and L. Maltzberger, won the four games played. The class "D" basketball string was composed of E. Salazar, L. Maltzberger, J. Underwood and D. Clarke. Other players were: Class "C" basketball: H. Gough, H. Cochran, J. Stokes, and W. Burback. Football—varsity: L. Hatcher, J. Lopez, F. Wilkins, and A. Bengtson. Football—lightweight: H. Gough, C. Ruiz, D. Marquez, P. Snook, E. Dennington, C. Craigmiles, F. Lester, and A. Remuez. Track: C. Ruiz, P. Gonzales, H. Gough, B. Cranford, and I. Harner.

Having measured up in scholastic and athletic ability, the freshman class eagerly awaits the opportunity to forge ahead to further triumphs, thus adding to the glory of their beloved C. U. H. S.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Since at the opening of the 1931-32 school year, Eleanor Maguire, Pepper Bough editor, was the only active member of Quill and Scroll, the international honorary society for high school journalists, little could be done until the first semester ended, when eight additional students were admitted into the organization.

At a Southern California High School Press Convention, held at Tustin union high school on March 18, John Steven McGroarty consented to be the Colton chapter's honorary sponsor. On the same day, Jaunita Taylor, Maude Alexander, and Mary Garrett were inducted into the society by Miss Hazel G. Long, associate editor of the Quill and Scroll magazine, and Miss Verl Freyburger of the journalism department at San Diego senior high school. This ceremony was repeated eleven days later at an A. S. B. meeting. In addition to the above-mentioned students, Rolland Stone, Charla Gray, Robert Clarke, Wanda Cook, and Mrs. Verna Gates Hosfelt, local honorary sponsor, were initiated into the society. Since Lois Edell was unable to be present, she was inducted at a later date.

Members of the local chapter participated in a series of pot luck suppers in April, when they published a bulletin which was distributed at "open house" night. Later in the year a publications banquet was given at the Anderson Hotel.

Officers of the chapter were: Eleanor Maguire, president; Maude Alexander, vice-president; Charla Gray, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Ella G. Hertel, adviser.

With only one returning letterman, Maude Alexander, at the opening of the debate season, tryouts were held on November 19 to determine the other three members of the varsity team. Rolland Stone, Everette Newton, and Bruce Eckerson were chosen to represent C. U. H. S. in the first Citrus Belt League debates which were held on December 4.

Upholding the affirmative at home in these tilts, Maude Alexander and Rolland Stone defeated San Bernardino, 3-0. Bruce Eckerson and Everette Newton composed the negative team which met Pomona and lost, 2-1. The question discussed was, Resolved: That compulsory military training in schools and colleges maintained by public funds should be abolished.

As a result of the interclass debates held in February, the same four students were selected to argue the question, Resolved: That the United States government should recognize the Russian government, in the second debate of the season. In these tilts Maude Alexander and Everette Newton contested with Redlands at C.U.H.S., winning by a 3-0 decision. Bruce Eckerson and Rolland Stone vied with Chaffey at that institution, losing by a 2-1 vote. The Colton squad had eight judges' decisions for the year, but only two debates. Riverside won the League since she claimed eight decisions and three debates.

In view of the year's activities, Maude Alexander, Rolland Stone, Everette Newton, and Bruce Eckerson were awarded letters, the first receiving a two-starred "C" and the others, one-starred emblems. Maude, who was presented with a pin since she had participated in three C. B. L. tilts, also had her name engraved upon the debate trophy.

Top row: M. Reedy, D. Kahuda, L. Darlington, K. Beckner, M. J. Andrews, J. Tuller, F. Hiberly, C. White, R. Clarke. Second row: H. Hough, J. Andrews, E. Logan, E. Baney, H. Reed, M. Peterson, C. Tilden, H. Reed, Coach J. A. Gillaspie. Third row: Clea McPhie, M. Crilly, F. Miller, M. Huckabay, N. Davidson, P. Wear, R. McCall, M. Mullins, Fourth row: E. Hough, E. Maguire, R. Stone, M. Alexander, E. Newton, B. Eckerson, L. Stanton, W. Bailey.

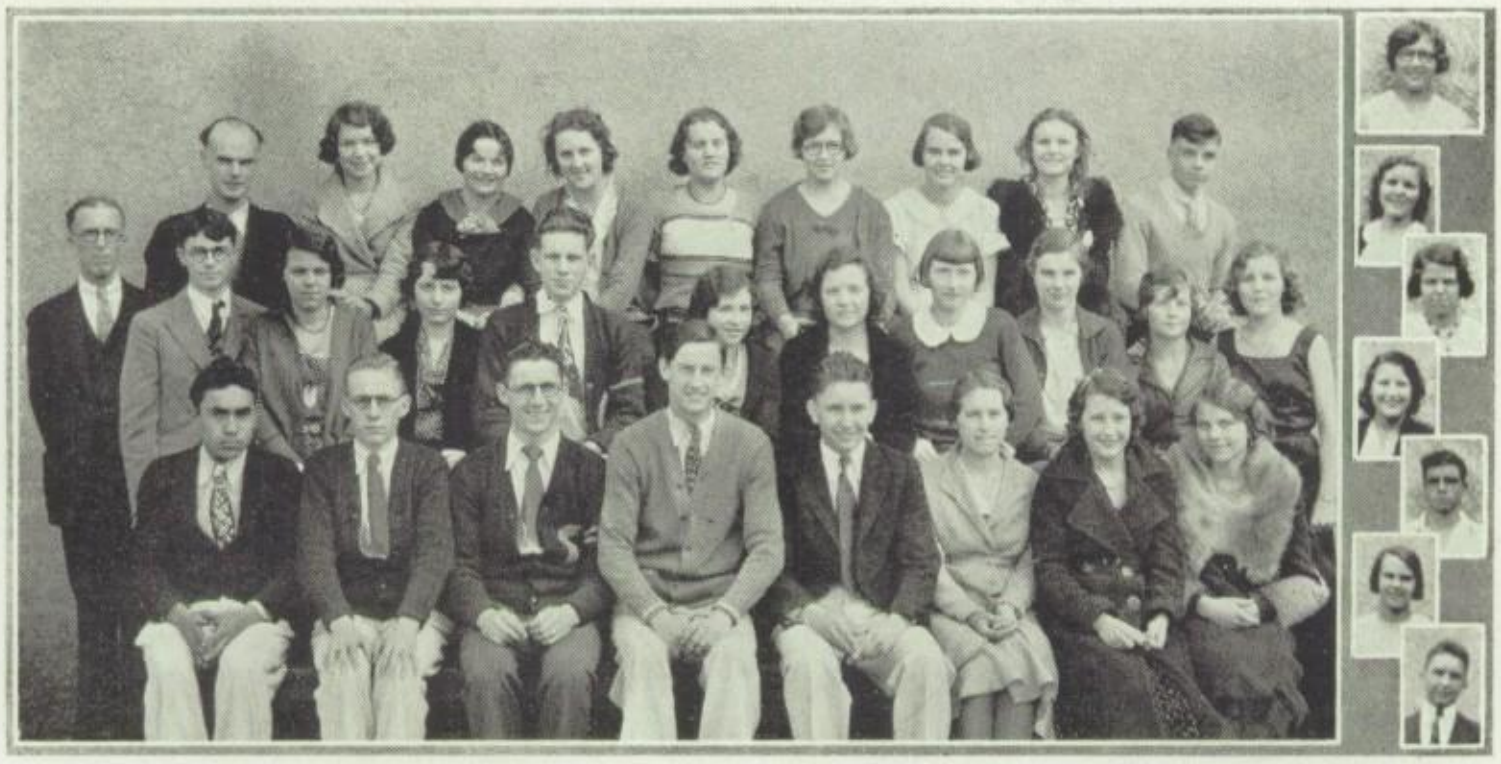
DEBATE CLUB

Membership in the debate club is open to those students who participate in at least one public speaking event during the year. In 1931-32 these events included the inter-class essay contest, the inter-class debate tournaments, the declamatory and oratorical contests, and varsity debating.

Since the sophomores claimed three debates and seven decisions, they won the inter-class debates which were held from February 15-17, and received their name on the Clark trophy. The question discussed was: Resolved, That the United States government should recognize the Russian government. The results were as follows: Junior negative—Rolland Stone, Bruce Eckerson; senior affirmative—Maude Alexander, Eleanor Maguire; won by juniors, 2-1. Senior negative—Everette Newton, Weynard Bailey; sophomore affirmative—Eleanor Logan, Josephine Andrews; won by sophomores, 2-1. Senior negative—Catherine White, Rebecca McCall; freshman affirmative—Mary Lee Huckabay, Florence Miller; won by seniors, 2-1. Sophomore negative—Hope Reed, Eunice Baney; junior affirmative—Leroy Stanton, Doretta Kahuda; won by sophomores, 3-0. Freshman negative—Clea McPhie, Mildred Crilly; junior affirmative—Lillian Darlington, Mary Reedy; won by juniors, 3-0. Sophomore negative—Charles Tilden, Harry Hough; freshman affirmative—Norma Davidson, Paul Wear; won by sophomores, 2-1.

Climaxing the year's activities, the annual debate banquet was held Friday evening, April 8, at C. U. H. S.

Officers for the year were: Rolland Stone, president; Leroy Stanton, vice-president; Mary Jane Andrews, secretary; Hope Reed, treasurer; and Mr. J. A. Gillaspie, coach.



Top row: H. Reed, F. Miller, E. Maguire, M. Mullins, E. Glenn, F. Hiberly, H. Reed, V. Buffum, L. Stanton. Second row: J. A. Gillaspie, adviser, R. Stone, E. Logan, S. Allred, R. Clarke, M. Alexander, W. Cook, D. Kahuda, O. Pixley, J. Sapp, M. Garrett. Third row: R.Hernandez, W. Huckabay, E. Hough, G. Parks, M. Hargrove, M. Huckabay, E. Baney, A. Mitchell.

SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

Chapter 178 of the California Scholarship Federation, headed by Frances Hiberly, president, and Mr. J. A. Gillaspie, Mrs. Cynthia V. Reynolds, and Miss Olive E. Clark, advisers, aimed to recognize high standards of scholarship and to encourage students to develop outstanding personal qualities. Other officers were:

First semester — Mary Garrett, vice-president; Eunice Baney, secretary; and Eleanor Logan, treasurer.

Second semester — Leroy Stanton, vice-president; Hope Reed, secretary; and Marvin Hargrove, treasurer.

Membership for the first half of the year included Nelson Aldrich, Josephine Andrews, Eunice Baney, Veda Buffum, Robert Clarke, Mary Garrett, Eva Glenn, Robert Hernandez, Frances Hiberly, Earl Hough, Walter Huckabay, Doretta Kahuda, Eleanor Logan, Eleanor Maguire, Annabell Mitchell, George Parks, Oma Belle Pixley, Hope Reed, Leroy Stanton, and Rolland Stone.

During the second semester the following names appeared on the honor roll: Maude Alexander, Selma Allred, Veda Buffum, Robert Clarke, Wanda Cook, Marvin Hargrove, Frances Hiberly, Mary Lee Huckabay, Dorthy Miller, Florence Miller, Herman Reed, Hope Reed, Jacqueline Sapp, Leroy Stanton, and Evanelle Hanna, a post graduate.

On Saturday, April 23, Frances Hiberly, Hope Reed, Veda Buffum, Maude Alexander, and Robert Clarke, accompanied by Mr. Gillaspie and Mrs. Reynolds, motored to Santa Monica to attend the spring C. S. F. convention as representatives from the local chapter. The day's program included registration, a business session, open forum and round table discussions, and luncheon at the Sea Breeze Beach Club where Mr. Geoffrey Morgan was the main speaker. Following this the delegates enjoyed dancing and swimming at the Club.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

With the election of Weynard Bailey, president; Alvis Crunk, vice-president; and Bill Hendrickson, secretary-treasurer, the Lettermen's Club began a year of varied activities under the adviserships of Coach Norman D. Fawley.

During the season the boys were officials at all games, acting as gatemen and guards; and five students of the club were members of a safety committee, organized to reduce the traffic hazards and protect student property.

A week-end mountain trip to Big Bear Lake was enjoyed on January 23-24, at which time the group stayed at the Firemen's cabin. Later in the year a fishing cruise and a matinee dance were planned. Two sacks of potatoes were donated by the boys for welfare purposes at Christmas time.

To be a member of the Lettermen's Club, a boy must have earned a varsity letter by playing, during one year, either ten quarters in football, or eight quarters in basketball, or twenty-seven innings in baseball; or he must have earned one point in the Tri-County League track meet or fifteen points in dual track contests. However, the athletic manager and yell leader are automatically entitled to membership.

HI-Y CLUB

As leaders of the Hi-Y for the ensuing year, Burton Cline was elected president; Ted Maxwell, vice-president; Everett Merryfield, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Hendrickson, tail twister. Principal Donald H. McIntosh and Coach Edward Carrey were advisers.

Included in the 1931-32 activities were addresses by Harry Vom Bruch, evangelist; Dr. I. S. Ritchie; and Mr. L. C. Clarke, electrical engineer at the Colton Cement Plant.

On March 17 a joint meeting of the Colton and Corona clubs was held in the Circle City, a similar conclave being conducted with the Redlands unit on March 28, and one with San Bernardino some weeks later.

Approximately thirty couples, chaperoned by Coach Carrey, attended a ladies' night in the form of a weiner bake and marshmallow roast at the Izaak Walton playground on March 23. Later in the year both a father and son and mother and son night were scheduled.

Bi-monthly meetings, on Monday evenings, were held in the music room of the high school, at which time student talent often furnished the entertainment. At the close of the term forty boys held memberships, other qualified students being added to the original eighteen with the customary initiation ceremony at intervals during the year.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Sponsored by Miss Olive E. Clark, vice-principal, the Chemistry Club has participated in a number of activities with the idea of furthering research work in scientific fields.

On October 8 the following officers were elected: Allard Anderson, president; Kathleen Beckner, vice-president; Evelyn Ahler, secretary; Joy Tuller, treasurer; and Mary Garrett, reporter.

"Paper Making" was the title of a motion picture shown on October 27 when the club held a night meeting and hunted treasures. This organization participated in another program of stunts on December 15, when the members tried out the many interesting experiments for which class time is too short.

A chemical tournament, followed by another treasure hunt, was the program for March 3. At this time entries were made in formula and equation writing, solving problems, giving facts, and reciting history. Later the members participated in a treasure hunt in which alternate clews had to be solved by chemical means, the final one leading back to the science building where a banquet was served.

The culminating event of the year, as usual, was the annual trip to the California Institute of Technology, which sixty-five students from the chemistry and physics classes attended. The high lights of this trip were the visit to the high tension laboratory, the wind tunnel in the Guggenheim building, the exhibition in Bridges Hall, and the work in Gates laboratory, where many chemical experiments were demonstrated.

Top row: V. M. Brooks, conductor, C. Staley, W. Huckabay, R. Cocking, W. Hendrickson, L. Malone, E. Shepard, H. B. Lindy, C. Webb. Second row: F. Thornberry, M. Mathews, R. Hendrickson, M. Olsen, M. Downing, A. McNeil, H. Gough, H. Locklin, K. Lewis, T. Whitfield, W. Burback, M. Merlau. Third row: C. Bliss, W. Lorentz, E. Thomas, M. Tillman, V. Graham, M. Ham, V. Klein, D. Kahuda, D. Miller, P. Williams, P. Workman, M. Lorentz, I. Bennett.

ORCHESTRA

Under the direction of Miss V. Marguerite Brooks, the C. U. H. S. orchestra presented programs at several of the school's outstanding entertainments this year, including assemblies, senior night, Boy Scout benefit, junior jinx, operetta, Kiwanis Club luncheon, Women's Club, A. S. B. play; and for baccalaureate, class night, and graduation, three activities of senior week.

Instrumentation was as follows: flute—Mary Margaret Merlau; clarinet—Charles Webb, Lester Malone; C melody saxaphone—H. B. Lindy, Eugene Shepard; trumpet and melophone—Raymond Cocking, Bill Hendrickson, Walter Huckabay, Carlton Staley; trombone—Maxine Olsen, Marjorie Downing; baritone—Bob Hendrickson; tuba—Frank Thornberry; drums—Carl Bliss; xylophone—Mildred Ham; piano—Marian Mathews.

In the string section, the personnel included: first violin—Doretta Kahuda, Evelyn Thomas, Violet Klein, Patricia Workman, Dorothy Miller, Phyllis Williams, Mabel Lorentz, Alvin McNeil; second violin—Margaret Tillman, Kenneth Lewis, Harry Locklin, Harlan Gough, Wayne Burback, Thomas Whitfield, Vincent Alexander, Vivian Graham; viola—Doretta Kahuda, Evelyn Thomas, Margaret Tillman, Vivian Graham; cello—Bill Lorentz, Alverna Erickson; string bass—Irene Bennett, Benetta Blood.

Through a department fund and a gift from the board, an oboe and two melophones were purchased; and a string bass was added with a portion of the operetta returns.

Charles Webb was elected president of the organization; Bill Hendrickson, vice-president; Lester Malone, secretary-treasurer; and Maxine Olsen, librarian.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Members of the boys' glee club have done their share toward making 1931-32 a "red-letter" year for C. U. H. S. by singing at several assemblies, at a program during Education Week; and by presenting a group of numbers at a Roosevelt P.-T. A. meeting, at the annual Christmas program, and at a Kiwanis Club luncheon.

On November 13 the combined clubs motored to Claremont for a "Singing Party" similar to one held last year. The boys' and girls' glee clubs also sang together on the junior and senior portions of the Christmas program and at a number of A. S. B. meetings.

Weynard Bailey, first tenor, portrayed the "lead" in the operetta, "Oh, Doctor!" with H. B. Lindy, Joe Frame, Raymond Hunter, John Caster, Donald De Armond, Ernest Corona, George Parks, Lou Greenwood, Tom Templeton, and Wayne Watson, carrying the boys' character roles, the combined glee clubs appearing in the choruses.

Personnel of the club was: first tenor—Jack Allingham, Weynard Bailey, Donald De Armond, Howard Starkey, Everette Newton, Ernest Corona; second tenor—John Caster, Richard Chaffee, Fred Cooper, Jack Edwards, Jack Hubbs, Tom Hungerford, Bob Powell.

Baritone—Vernon Castle, Darrell Darnell, Raymond Hunter, Alvin McNeil, Tom Templeton, Andy Sargent, Wayne Watson, Luther Plummer, Eugene Shepard, George Parks, Stanley Layne, Kenneth McCoy; bass—Joe Frame, Louie Shelton, Merlin Butler, Melvin Saffel, H. B. Lindy, Lou Greenwood, and Allen Holt.

Officers of the organization were: president, Stanley Layne; vice-president, George Parks; secretary-treasurer, Wayne Watson; and librarian, Richard Chaffee. Kathryn King was the accompanist.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Having begun their year's activities by singing at the Girls' League Big and Little Sister assembly, the girls' glee club continued to contribute to entertainments throughout the 1931-32 term. Numbers were offered by them during Education Week, at several assemblies, on the Christmas program, and at the Claremont "Singing Party," held to establish friendship rather than to promote rivalry between schools of the Tri-County League.

As Honor, Eunice Baney, first soprano, played the "lead" in the operetta, "Oh, Doctor!" Katherine Van Derpoel, Vida McElyea, Mary Ann Peterson, Leona Simonds, Irene Bennett, and Gwendolyn Howell constituted the feminine supporting cast.

Members of the club included: first soprano—Eunice Baney, Helen Clark, Dorothy Hart, Helen Johansen, Winifred Jones, Dorothy McKinnon, Madge McPhie, Mary Mullins, Della Olson, Mary Peterson, Alice Mae Poppett, Julia Sparks, Mary Doris Zwick, Dorothy Veale.

Second soprano—Irene Bennett, Elsie Bitting, Emma Blackburn, Magdalena Castorena, Hazel Dacre, Marian Dahl, Doris Darnell, Irene Demmer, Gertrude Douglas, Grace Gilworth, Freda Graves, Gwendolyn Howell, Charlotte Kenoyer, Nancy Kennedy, Nellie Martin, Alwina Nauert, Kathleen Patterson, Amanda Todd, Marjorie West, Anna Young.

Alto—Kathleen Beckner, Benetta Blood, Laura Cline, Helen Ferris, Louise Hamil, Claudia Mae Hughes, Anna Love, Esolita McGough, Vida McElyea, Merriel Mayer, Ethel Pill, Bessie Robbins, Leona Simonds, Bonnie Stokes, and Katherine Van Derpoel.

Claudia Mae Hughes was elected president; Della Olson, vice-president; Louise Hamil, secretary-treasurer; and Helen Johansen, librarian. Louise was also the accompanist.

ACHIEVEMENTS

Annually all students of English are required to enter the preliminaries of the interclass essay contest by writing an original composition. Two pupils from each of the four divisions memorize and deliver these before the student body. This term, in the sixth yearly contest, Weynard Bailey and Catherine White represented the seniors; Rolland Stone and Joy Tuller, juniors; Eleanor Logan and Hope Reed, sophomores; and Mary Lee Huckabay and Florence Miller, freshmen.

As a result of the contest, Weynard Bailey placed first with the address, "In Memoriam"; Hope Reed, second, "The Unknown Washington"; Mary Lee Huckabay, third, "Parasites"; and Florence Miller, fourth, "An Apology for Idlers". Gold, silver, and bronze medals were awarded to the three highest, respectively, by Mr. Frank B. Lindsay of the S.B.V.U.J.C., in behalf of the Colton American Legion.

On Tuesday morning, April 5, six minute orations were delivered by Hope Reed, Mary Ann Peterson, Weynard Bailey, Frances Hiberly, Everette Newton, Eleanor Maguire, Rolland Stone, and Catherine White, contestants in the local National Oratorical Contest. "The Constitution—a Challenge to Americanism" was the subject of Eleanor Maguire who placed first. Mary Ann Peterson, who was accorded second place, spoke on "Lincoln and the Constitution"; while "The History of Our Constitution" was the topic of Everette Newton who ranked third. Eleanor Maguire competed with four other schools in the District 15 finals, held at the Corona high school auditorium on Friday evening, April 15, representing C.U.H.S., and placed third.

Those competing in the finals of the declamation contest, May 6, were Charles Tilden, Eleanor Maguire, Rolland Stone, Harry Locklin, and Bruce Eckerson. Charles Tilden won first place on the address, "Spartacus to the Gladiators"; Rolland Stone, second, "A Plea for Cuba"; and Eleanor Maguire, third, "Toussaint L'Ouverture."

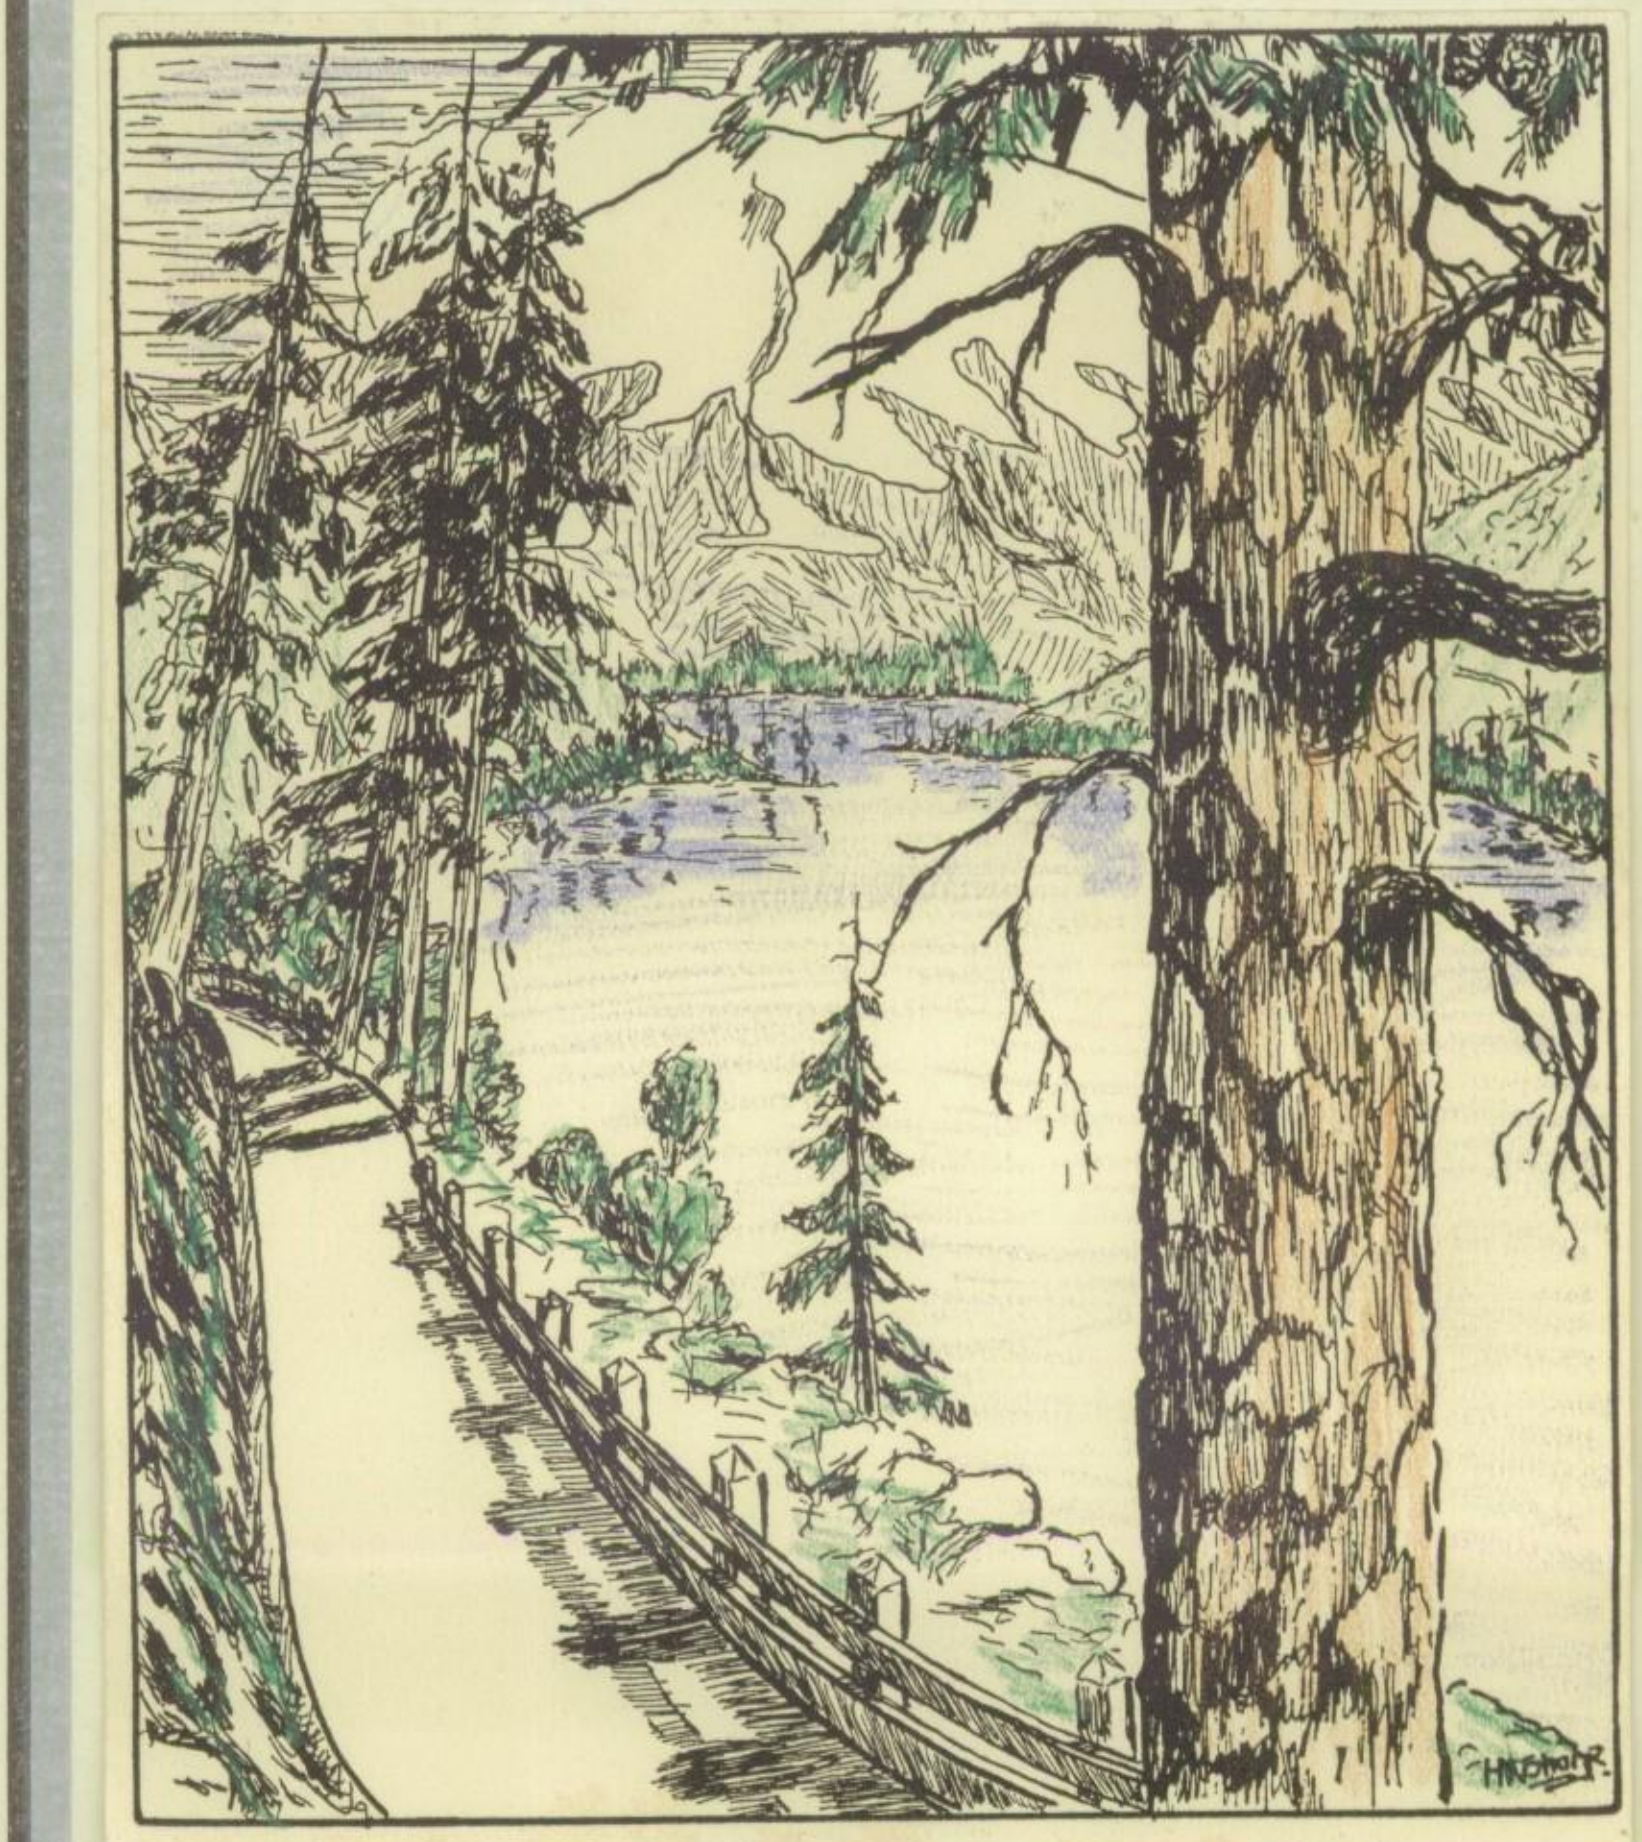
Rolland Stone competed in the Southwest Inter-High School Declamation Contest, sponsored by the University of Redlands since 1914, which took place on May 14 at the U. of R. A silver loving cup, emblematic of its victory, was presented to San Bernardino high school as well as gold, silver, and bronze medals to those students who placed first, second, and third, respectively.

Participating in the Fire Prevention essay contest, sponsored by the Colton Chamber of Commerce, Robert Clarke, senior, was awarded first place. Hope Reed, sophomore, won second; Vivian Gough, junior, third; and Lucile Montgomery, senior, fourth.

In recognition of their merit, both The Pepper Bough and the Crimson and Gold were awarded First Class Honor Ratings in the Eleventh National Critical Service of the National Scholastic Press Association in 1931 at the University of Minnesota, Department of Journalism.

Having the most appropriate and original booth in which to display their welfare contributions, the sophomore class was awarded a five dollar first prize for the second consecutive year by the Associated Student Body at Christmas time.

An exhibit in the bi-products department of the 22nd National Orange Show, made possible by the combined efforts of the art and domestic science departments, was awarded the first prize of $70. The city's feature exhibit, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and constructed by the art and woodshop classes, also won a first place and $270.



LITERARY

ALASKA

Through the sponsoring of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the dream of the International Highway is now becoming a reality. Beginning at Whitehorse, Alaska, and continuing along the Pacific coast to Buenos Aires, a highway is planned, linking North and South America and affording to our people and theirs an opportunity to travel and enjoy the scenic attractions and customs of other lands.

The construction of this highway will open veritable wonderlands of scenery to the tourist. Mexico and the Latin countries especially should offer much of interest to the traveler, and it is hoped that ultimately a greater feeling of good-will and understanding will be established by this connecting bond.

Juneau, the capital of Alaska, is one of the most picturesquely situated of all Alaskan towns. Dating from the days of the great gold rush, this metropolis is located at the base of a gigantic mountain that rises almost perpendicularly to a height of nearly three thousand feet, forming an exceedingly artistic background to this little city.

Perhaps one of the most interesting pages of Juneau history is revealed in the origin of the name which it now bears. In the days of the gold strikes, Joseph Juneau was the first man to demonstrate the existence of gold in this district in any considerable quantity. For this reason the newly formed camp was to pay him tribute by selecting his name as a suitable one for the town. However, during the early days, the settlement seemed disposed to bestow this honor upon one Richard Harris, a partner of Juneau, by naming the first mining town Harrisburg, and then Rockwell in honor of one of the officers on the United States steamer "Jamestown," at that time located near Sitka. It was finally decided by the inhabitants to give honor to the rightful person, and so Rockwell was again called Juneau, which name it bears at the present time.

Upon approaching Juneau, one passes Taku Inlet, a favorite point of interest for tourists. Here are found two large glaciers, one with a moraine at its foot and the other reaching deep water with its face, so that it discharges ice-bergs constantly. The bay is filled with enormous cakes of ice, some of which are larger than the average steamer. This dazzling white, mingled with the intense blue, and the ceaseless music of falling water, recalls to one the effect realized in the Blue Grotto of Capri.

CANADIAN RAILWAY SCENE

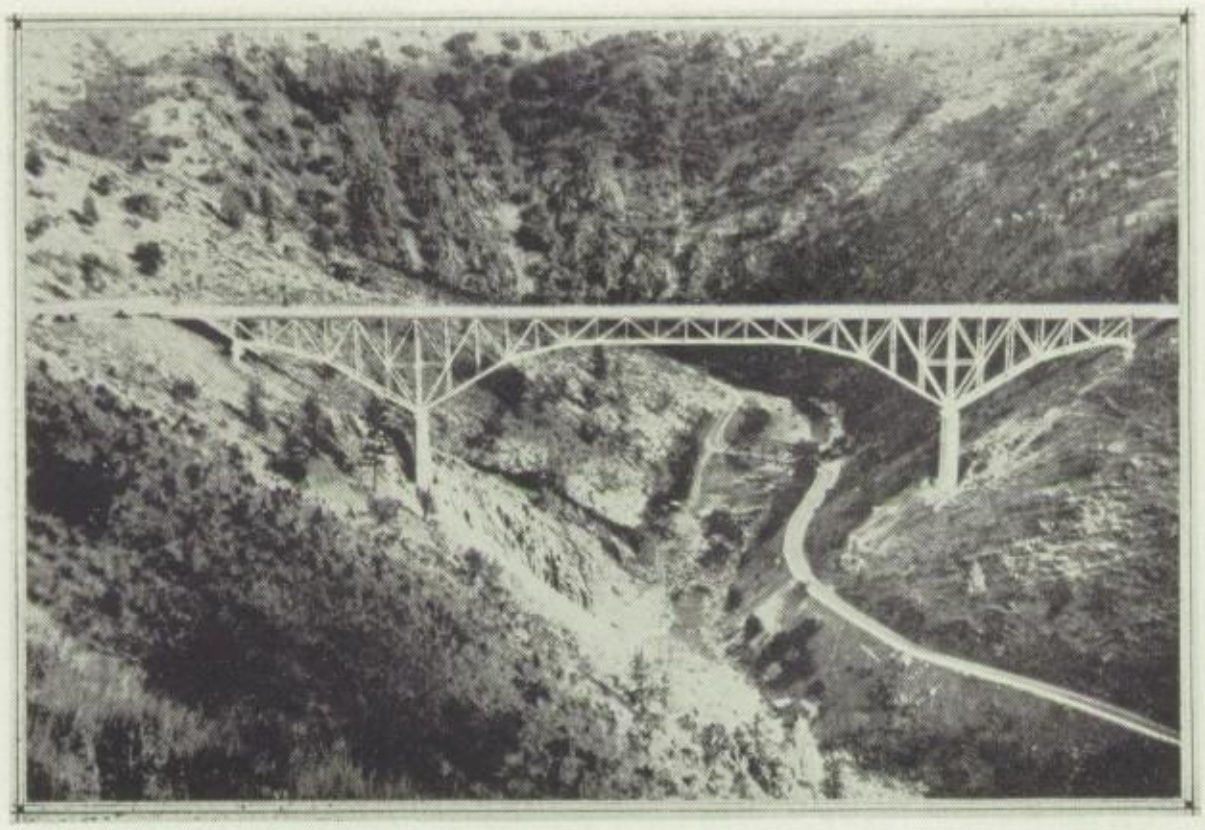
CANADA

Canada, like our Pacific Northwest, has a variety of beautiful scenery. Beginning at Vancouver and going to Hazelton, one passes through some of its richest historical valleys.

One of the most interesting of the legends concerning different parts of this country is the superstition surrounding Stranwick Ridge, a short distance from Clinton. This ridge is named after an old Indian woman whose son, Moses Paul, was hanged for murder. Seated on her roan pony on the ridge, the old Indian woman shrieked a curse upon all who pursued her son, and Paul Spintlum, his associate, over many hundreds of miles. The Indians, who murdered a teamster and a Chinaman, were known as "the outlaws of Cariboo" for a year and a half, and Corporal Kindness, one of the police, was killed during the pursuit. The superstitious point out that, of the six upon whom the old hag's curse fell, five have since died, mostly by misadventure.

However, this grim tragedy is not the only bit of legend connected with the territory around Clinton. Only twelve miles away is situated the head of what rightfully could be called the Little Grand Canyon of British Columbia, but which is known as "The Chasm." It yawns deep with sheer multicolored cliffs, nine hundred feet apart. There, perched on one of the rock pinnacles is "The Spirit of the Chasm," weathered into the resemblance of an old Indian with uplifted arms in what local legend terms, "the guardian spirit of the Bonapartes." Legend has it that in times long gone, an Indian lover, who had ridden away bearing his beloved toward a southern village, was being overtaken, owing to the added weight on his pony. He called upon the Great Spirit for aid, and the Chasm was opened behind him to frustrate pursuit. Since then "The Spirit of the Chasm," with upheld arms, has warned the people of its dangers.

From here the road passes on northward, ending at Hazelton, where the miners and natives start into the "Land of the Golden Twilight, on the rim of the Great Unknown."



PIONEER MEMORIAL BRIDGE

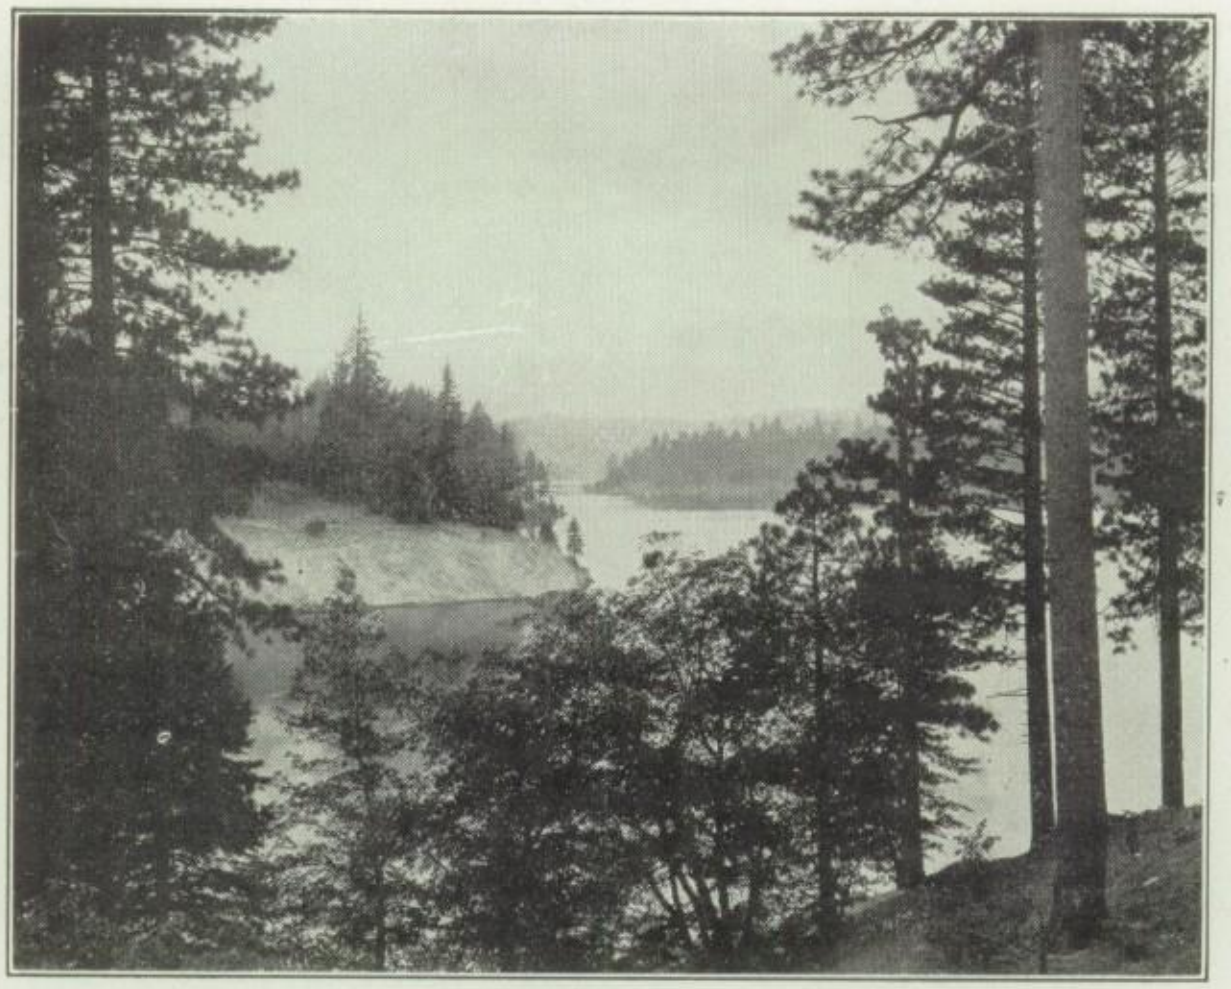
OREGON and WASHINGTON

Rolling and mountainous territory, diversified by many beautiful streams and rivers, characterizes the scenery in Oregon and Washington. Here nature retains her primeval beauty with fir forests and snow-covered slopes. In some spots there has been no change in the country since these states were first discovered.

Perhaps the most spectacular legends concerning early Oregon are centered around Grant's Pass. History has been made through this entire mountain region and could the mountains but talk, the stories of murders, banditry, and intrique by the gold miners of yester-years would read like the proverbial dime novel. Today, passing as one does over modern pavement in luxurious motor cars, seldom does man give thought to historic traditions of the country. Few sections can compare scenically with this awe-inspiring and ever-changing highway.

Not quite so historical as Grant's Pass, perhaps, but by far more beautiful, is Crater Lake, which was discovered in eighteen hundred and fifty-three by a party of wandering miners and prospectors in search of a lost mine. This lake is six miles in diameter and extends approximately two thousand feet below the rim, occupying the crater of an extinct volcano. The waters are of an intense, vivid, turquoise blue, deepening into a darker hue toward the center. The edge of the gray lava rim is remarkably sculptured into fantastic shapes. Two interesting features are Wizard Island and the Phantom Ship, the latter being a mass of curiously formed lava, which, when seen at a distance, suggests a ship under full sail.

No doubt one of the most interesting, and certainly the most historical, spots in the entire state of Washington is the scene of the "50-40 or Fight" controversy between the United States and England. The San Juan islands, the scene of the settlement, clustered in the northern part of Puget Sound, and separated by innumerable intricate channels, never fail to entrance the traveler with an unusual charm of their own.



LAKE ARROWHEAD

CALIFORNIA

As is true with the greater part of California history, the story of San Bernardino Valley began with the coming of the missionaries. The first of these was Juan Batista de Anza who, having been directed by the viceroy to open a road between the Colorado river and San Gabriel, entered the valley in the spring of the year seventeen hundred and seventy-four.

Later, other missionaries came, naming this scenic wonderland in honor of Saint Bernardino of Sienna, whose feast day happened to fall on the date of their arrival. The original Indian name, "Gauchama," when translated, means "a place of plenty to eat." No doubt nothing could better illustrate the type of Indian these pioneers found living here than that phrase. They, unlike the Eastern Indian, were of a very low standard, lacking social organization, initiative, and leaders. Hence the entrance of the padres into their lives held great significance.

The trading post located on the Gauchama rancheria, known as Bunker Hill, was undoubtedly the first settlement. It was situated between Urbita Springs and Colton, a location chosen on account of the abundance of water in the near vicinity. Later, the "Capilla" was built and dedicated to San Bernardino, the patron saint of the valley.

It was on this same spot that the old San Bernardino Mission was founded some years later. This old landmark has no place in Mission history, and yet it is a point of special interest in the traditions of the valley. Having been occupied in turn by the padres, mission Indians, Mexican rancheros, and Mormons, it was finally used as a homestead by one of the later American families, and portions of the walls are still standing. However, these are not sufficient to give any idea of the original building. The ruins are today surrounded by beautiful orange groves which, strangely enough, are watered from the old "zanja" built by the Indians at the same time as the mission.

SIERRA MADRE RANGE

CALIFORNIA

Outstanding in the history of the valley are the names of its most prominent pioneers, or grantees as they were then called. First known among these is Juan Bandini, of the Jurupa rancho. Though this hacienda was never, strictly speaking, any part of San Bernardino valley, it was once entirely within the boundaries of the county and has a place in early history. It comprised what is now known as Chino and the surrounding neighborhood.

The name of the Lugos, however, properly heads the list of Mexican pioneers. They were grantees of the rancho de San Bernardino which took in practically the entire valley. In the interval between the passing of the friars and coming of the Lugos there had been an occupant of the rancho in the person of Jose Bermudas. However, when the official grants were later obtained, he and his family returned to Los Angeles. It was he who built the historic "old adobe" dwelling, afterwards the site of "the Mormon fort" and now the property of Wozencraft on "C" street.

Other early colonists, perhaps as well known as the Lugos, were Louis Rubidoux, one of the founders of the village of Agua Mansa, and Christobal Slover, who lived in the neighborhood of the mountain bearing his name. These men were pioneers of the vicinity surrounding Colton and the tales of their varied experiences form many pages of the interesting history of the valley. No doubt the oldest relic left by these settlers was the Little Church of Agua Mansa, which remained standing for many years. However, barely a trace remains. The bell, old, cracked, and badly defaced, now hangs in the tower of the Church of the Holy Rosary at Colton, still calling the people to worship.

Thus continues the threads of the story of San Bernardino valley. "What the future may have in store for it no man may know, for no man can determine the scheme of human destiny."

SAN BLAS, NAYARIT

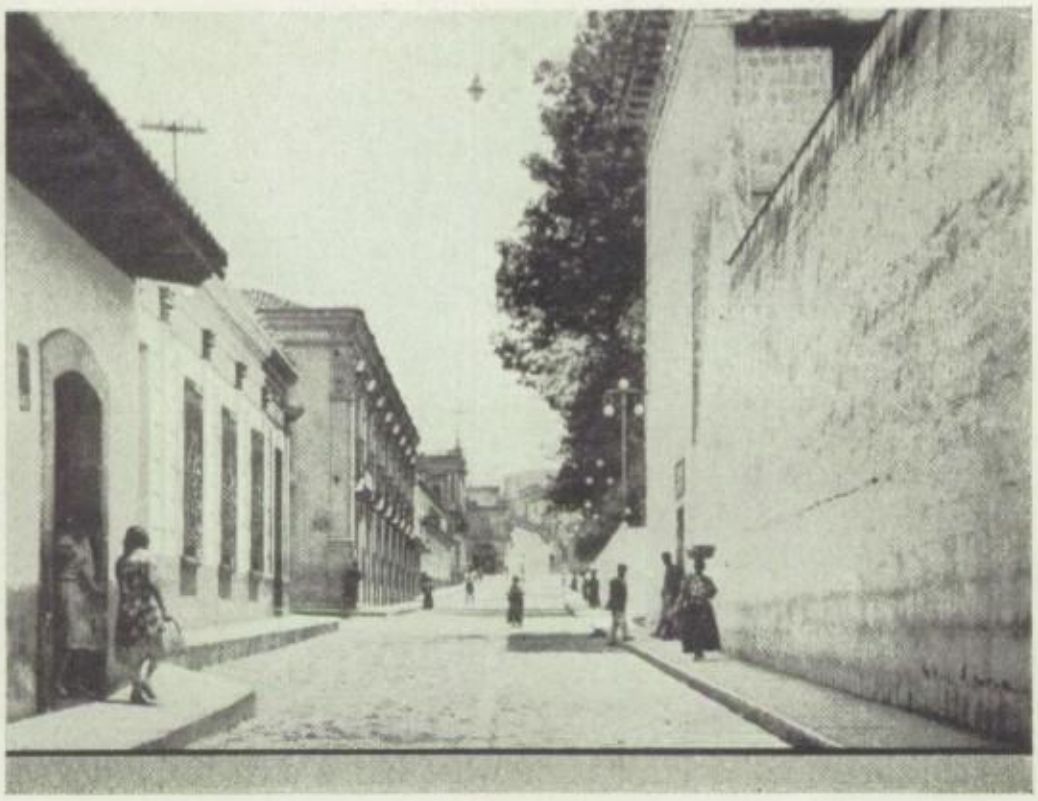
MEXICO

The destiny of Mexico is bound up in the construction of the present International Highway. Although the road does not compare with those in our own country, the building of it, which is taking place as rapidly as possible, will open to tourist travel a veritable wonderland.

Beginning at Nogales, the gateway to the West Coast of Mexico, the road passes through scenery as varied as a kaleidoscope. This country is rich not only in beautiful scenery, but in historical legends and stories as well.

Traveling down the coast, the tourist gets into the hacienda country, which consists of enormous estates almost like little kingdoms, each with its own village, its own church and, in some cases, its own military guard, just as in the days of Cortez. An example of this is Culiacan, the capital of Sinaloa and one of the most interesting towns on the American Continent. The tradition is that it was settled by the Aztecs in the year five hundred twenty-two, as they made their way down from the bleak hot deserts of Southern Arizona. If the tradition has any basis in fact, then Culiacan is the oldest city on this hemisphere. It is today a charming and colorful town, famous for its pretty girls and social festivities.

The next important city, Tepic, is reached by first passing through a dense jungle which comes up to the very doors of the small tropic town of San Blas, pictured above. Tepic, the capital of the State of Nayarit, one of the quaintest and most picturesque of the west coast cities, came into history in the year fifteen hundred and twenty-four, when Francisco Cortez occupied the Indian pueblo which stood on the site of the present city. From that momentous date it has grown apace, being now an odd but felicitous admixture of the old and the new, of the seventeenth and twentieth centuries, a remote corner of Moorish Spain, forgotten by the World, yet intrinsically a part of it.



QUEZALTENANGO

GUATEMALA

Passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the highlands of Guatemala, often called Blue Gardens, the tourists encounters some of the richest and most picturesque untouched country in America.

This trip takes one into Quezaltenango, pictured above, the greatest Indian city in North America. Quezaltenango, or Zelaju as the Indians call it, is rich with her own atmosphere, essentially that of the South American Indian, who makes up three-fourths of the entire population of the town, living in brick and adobe houses on streets that have grown from the goat tracks of prehistoric Indian villages, and dressing in native garb in dozens of different colors. The presence of this submerged but solid resisting stock gives to Guatemala a color and note of latent tragedy different from anything found in the other republics.

The "real" Guatemala, like the "real" country everywhere in Central America, is outside the capital on coffee fincas and sugar and banana plantations, up in Indian villages, and amongst the tremendous western valleys and mountains. In order to see this part of the country, it is necessary for one to cross a river at the edge of Quezaltenango, which, according to tradition, ran with the blood of twelve thousand Indians when the great Pedro de Alvarado met, defeated, and slew in single combat the Indian King Tecum in fifteen hundred and twenty-three. This trail takes one into the very heart of Guatemala, where the foreigner is still much more of a curiosity to the natives than the natives can possibly be to him.

The occasional traveler who is fortunate enough to get this far from the usual beaten track will delight in the beauty of Lake Atitlan, situated near by. One who looks down upon this crater lake, with its borders of volcanic peaks, is not likely to forget the awe-inspiring scene; and the day will doubtlessly come when people will vacation here as they do now in that world-renowned pleasure resort, Switzerland.

ARGENTINA

Approaching Buenos Aires through the shores of the estuary of the Plate River, one cannot truthfully say that the scene impresses itself upon the mind by reason of its beauty. This metropolis of the southern hemisphere stands on a flat plain without a background of hills or other pleasing topographical feature, and yet it is a handsome city, the pride of Argentina, with its brick skyline.

A little over four hundred years ago, a Spanish navigator, Juan de Solis, the chief pilot of Spain, was bent upon finding a strait that went through from Europe to India. He discovered, instead, the Rio de Plate upon which Buenos Aires is situated. However, the Marquis of Mendoza must be called the real founder of the city. In fifteen hundred and thirty-four he established the beginnings of what has grown to be the vast and wealthy Argentine capital of today. The story of how he failed in reaching Peru, the country for which he was bound, forms one of the interesting chapters of history in this picturesque period.

Before reaching the metropolis one first enters Montevideo, the capital of Uruguay, the smallest of the South American states, which affords a decided contrast to Argentina. Beautifully situated, extending along the shores of a small bay, with rocky headlands jutting out in the west, its seaport and city are much more attractive than those of Buenos Aires. Here the Atlantic breezes blow freely over this "Puerto del Mar" which is built more or less on rolling plains, and is reputed to be one of the cleanest and most pleasing cities in all South America.

The picturesqueness and personality of a land are ever made up of the people inhabiting it. The guacho is essentially the mainstay of South American romantic appeal. He is of a very different type, even his clothes being decidedly unlike those of the western cowboy. He wears a leather apron across his knees instead of the pair of pants so dear to the hearts of all northern "Guachos", and the saddles no longer have high pommels, but are very flat and almost as large as a dish, requiring but one turn of the "riata". However, the Argentine guachos are admitted to be the finest ropers in the world.

Remaining to most people as yet an unexplored region, South America offers to the future tourist an unsurpassed treasure land of scenic beauty.

SPORTS

COACHING STAFF

One of the chief reasons for Colton High's success in all branches of inter-scholastic athletics, is the work of the coaching staff. At the head of this group is Norman D. Fawley, an alumnus, a former stellar performer on Colton High teams, and, for the past two years, head coach at the local institution, during which time he has been, in a large measure, responsible for the development of two All-Southern California championship teams, one in football and the other in baseball; and his teams have thrice carried off league championships.

Assisting Coach Fawley this year was Ed Carrey, recently graduated from Occidental College. Mr. Carrey assisted Coach Fewley with the football team from the beginning of the practice season, and, at the conclusion of the schedule in this sport, took up the training of the track team, the results of the meets showing that Mr. Carrey has achieved marked success with his entries in practically all track and field events.

Everett Adams, a cadet teacher who is a Covina High School alumnus, piloted the lightweight football squad through to a Tri-County League championship, coached the lightweight basketball team, and taught the rudiments of baseball to the freshman nine.

Earl Webster, a post graduate, Burton Cline, '32, and Pascal Cerda, '33, were in charge of the Class "C" and "D" basketball squads. These fellows put a great amount of time and effort into the work of rounding out the two classy quintets which were produced from the inexperienced material at hand.

Behind the entire athletic program, lending his support and advice to every activity, was the principal and former coach, Donald H. McIntosh. Through his cooperation and interest, the sport events of Colton High have been improved and built up to such an extent that the institution has an enviable record in all branches of competitive athletics; a record seldom achieved by a school of Colton's size.

Under the leadership of such a staff, the sports program has become of great value to the individual students, to the school as a whole, and to the entire community.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Beginning the 1931 grid season with eleven returning lettermen and four complete squads of reserves, a very successful season was anticipated for the Yellow Jacket Varsity, and the team showed that it had real class.

In the first practice tilt Riverside tied the locals, 7-7. Later Puente was overwhelmed, 26-6. In a night game with the La Verne College Freshman team, a 6-0 score was chalked up against the Jackets, and Chaffey repeated during the following week, 19-0.

However, when the League season opened the local eleven seemed to have everything their own way. Corona, Bonita, Chino, and Claremont were, in turn, defeated by scores of 28-6, 26-6, 26-0, and 13-0 respectively. This string of victories gave the Colton gridders the Tri-County League crown for the first time in three years.

Before entering the All-Southern Championship play-offs, Coach Fawley's men participated in an Armistice Day classic against San Bernardino, and, in a breath-taking encounter, repeated their 7-0 victory of the preceding year. On Thanksgiving Day the Jackets went to Redlands to play for the unofficial championship of the valley, defeating the Terriers with the decisive score of 28-7.

In the first All-Southern game, against the Desert League champions, Victorville was defeated 19-0, which victory, with a forfeited game from the Riverside County League champions, entitled the Colton squad to meet Citrus in the final play-off.

This conflict, which was staged on the San Bernardino Junior College turf, proved to be one of the hardest of the entire season. It was not until the third quarter that Vic Alexander, behind perfect play, broke away for an eighty-yard run and the only score of the game. As a result, Colton won the All-Southern Championship in Class B Leagues.

The 1931 team was captained by Bob Hendrickson and Johnny Seintruier, and to these, a stalwart tackle and a flashy full-back, goes much of the credit for a very successful season. Ivan Castle was chosen as the most valuable player, and Dean Olson, guard, was elected by his teammates to lead the 1932 varsity.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

Under the leadership of Captain Jack Hubbs, the Colton lightweight grid aggregation came through the league season as champions of their class. Activities were launched with several members of last year's squad returning; and, with a good sized group of new grid aspirants out, Coach Everett Adams developed a classy squad.

Fontana Junior High came to Colton for the first practice session of the season, and departed with a 14-0 defeat registered against them. Riverside's sophomore eleven took the next practice tilt, 13-0, and repeated in a return game with a 6-0 score; but, in a second tussle with Fontana, Colton's team smashed its way to a 12-0 victory.

The first league game was played at Corona, Coach Adam's squad squeezing out a 7-0 victory. The following Friday's game with Bonita resulted in a 6-6 tie. Chino, the only other school in the league to produce a team, met defeat to the tune of 6-0 in the combat with the Colton babes. Due to the fact that Bonita was defeated by Chino, the championship was won by Colton for the first time in three years.

Letters were awarded to the following boys: B. Hubbs and J. Hubbs for the second time; J. Roberts, F. Cerda, L. West, P. Snook, E. Dennington, K. Sakato, H. Gough, E. Marquez, C. Ruiz, N. Helman, R. Hastings, R. McNair, and H. Sharp for the first time.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

With four members of last year's team returning, three of whom were lettermen, a championship quintet seemed assured when the 1931-32 basketball season was ushered in. Although the championship did not materialize, the boys proved to be a hard fighting group and gave a good account of themselves at every opportunity.

The season opened with a practice game with Hemet, in which the locals received a 26-16 drubbing. However, in a return encounter, Hemet was the first victim to feel the Yellow Jackets' sting, when they were defeated, 39-13. Redlands was the next opponent met by Coach Fawley's men, and in this mix-up the boys from the foothill city won, 19-13.

Other practice tilts were held with the Colton Reds, the 1921 Colton basketball team, and a second tussle with Redlands, all of which were won by the Crimson and Gold hoopsters.

January 15 marked the opening of the league season, when the Jackets went to Corona and returned with a 23-19 victory safely stowed away. Bonita, the next opponent of the Colton five, overthrew the hopes for a championship by winning a bitterly contested encounter by a lone point. Chino repeated a week later, winning by a larger margin, 16-6. In the last league game, Claremont took the short end of a 24-20 score.

A new plan, that of having a different captain in each tilt, was adopted this year. However, at the end of the season, Raymond Cocking was selected by his teammates as honorary captain. Other lettermen were Hough, Maltzberger, Frame, Olson, Blake, and R. Hendrickson.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

For the third consecutive year the Crimsonettes were under the leadership of Everett Adams, former Redlands University basketball star. The prospects were very bright, returning lettermen being Templeton, Watson, Powell, and Hargrove, with Huckabay and Cerda coming up from last year's pee wees.

During the practice session the lightweights met and defeated the following teams: Sturges Junior High, and the Redlands and San Bernardino sophs; and they also divided a pair of games with the Hemet lighties. The victories over the San Bernardino and Redlands teams augured well for the coming season, as they were the class of the C. B. L., having tied for the championship.

Prior to the opening of the league schedule, the team voted to elect a captain before each contest, and to select an honorary one at the conclusion of the year.

The first league tilt was with Corona, Watson being captain for the game. In spite of the fighting spirit of the locals, the Corona outfit took a 20-13 victory in a very fast fracas played on the opponent's court.

Bonita was next and, with Templeton acting as captain, the lightweights received another drubbing, this time to the tune of 21-14. The tilt turned out to be fast, furious, and rough, being marked by many fouls on each side.

With Powell as captain, Colton finally broke into the winning column, trimming Chino, 13-10. The Crimsonettes presented an air-tight defense in the first half, Chino getting only three shots at the basket.

Hargrove was chosen captain in the final tilt of the year against Claremont, which was won by the locals, 24-10. Immediately after the game Watson, stellar forward and high point man for the season, was selected honorary captain by his teammates.

Colton finished in a tie for second place with Chino and Corona.

"C" AND "D" BASKETBALL

Although the Pee Wee and Flea Weight seasons were not particularly successful so far as games won is concerned, the Class "C" and "D" basketball aspirants proved themselves worthy of the name "Yellow Jackets" during the 1931-32 hoop season. Regardless of the fact that they won comparatively few contests, they gave the best that was in them, from the moment the first tip-off was called until the final gun announced the end of the contest.

The Class "C" squad was coached by Earl Webster, '31, and captained by the center, Harlan Gough. They lost their first league game to Corona by a 13-7 score, but came back to win from Bonita and Claremont by scores of 9-8 and 8-4 respectively. The tussle with Chino was forfeited because of inclement weather, the season ending with Colton holding third place.

Colton's Class "D" aggregation was less fortunate than the "C" group, since they failed to win a game. They were defeated by Sturges Junior High, Corona, Bonita, Claremont, and the Roosevelt Junior High, ending in the cellar position as far as league standings were concerned. This quintet was captained by Charles Savage and coached jointly by Burton Cline and Pascal Cerda.

Both teams were forced to work under difficulties. They had no gym in which to practice, and the weather was so uncertain that they often had to forego their practice sessions. Considering conditions, the local institution may well be proud of the showing made by these two groups.

The following received their letters: Class "C"—Bailey, Jones, Gough, Cochran, and Hubbs; Class "D"—Maltzberger, Savage, Underwood, Salazar, Clarke, Burk, and Allingham.

Top row: Coach Carrey, W. Huckabay, M. Beck, A. Suchil, G. Parks, R. Clarke, G. Cooley, B. Howell. Second row: R. Hendrickson, T. Leon, R. McNair, E. Hough, A. Crunk, T. Templeton, M. Maltzberger, J. VARSITY TRACK

To develop a championship team almost entirely from green material was the task faced by Coach Ed Carrey at the beginning of the season, since only seven lettermen returned from the 1931 aggregation. An inter-class meet was held at the outset in order to ascertain who were the best prospects among those turning out.

Before the league trackfest the locals placed second in Class B at the Orange Show relays, and, in practice affairs, defeated Redlands, Riverside, and Coachella.

On March 19, Colton repeated in what has become an established habit; the Jackets won the league meet for the eighth consecutive time, scoring 72 points while Corona, the closest competitor, earned 36½.

On April 1 the Colton tracksters took on the Occidental freshmen and Alhambra High School, the latter winning the meet by a margin of 4 points over the Hub City spikesters. Accepting a challenge from the San Gabriel Valley League, the Colton, Corona, and Bonita teams upheld the honors of the Tri-County circuit on April 9, and these three schools scored a total only 22 points lower than the combined scores of the six participants representing the San Gabriel League. In the Chaffey Invitational, Colton failed to carry off high honors, although Ivan Castle starred in the shot put.

After the C.I.F. divisional finals, the following eight boys were eligible to compete in the All-Southern meet: Class A—Ivan Castle, discus; Class B—Anderson and Powell, broad jump; Templeton, discus; and the relay team, composed of Powell, McNair, Bailey and Anderson. Charles Tilden, Colton's lone entry in Class C, was unable to run because of illness. Templeton was the only place winner in the final meet, taking third in the discus.

Ivan Castle was elected captain of the 1932 track squad and proved to be a stellar performer, taking first places in the shot and discus in almost every meet.

LIGHTWEIGHT TRACK

In spite of the fact that but nine boys from Colton participated in the league track meet at Riverside on March 19, they carried off second place honors with a total of 39 points, being defeated only by Corona.

Chris Ruiz, a freshman, was Colton's high point man, taking first places in the 50 and 100 yard dashes and fourth in the broad jump. A new record was established in the century event when Chris stepped it off in 10.0 seconds. Ruiz has three years of varsity competition before him, and is expected to make a name for himself in the history of track at Colton High.

In the weight events, Lowell West, a sophomore, carried off two firsts. West established a new record of 49 feet and 1 inch in the shot put and, in addition, placed first in the platter event.

Other winners in the weights were Harlan Gough and Pat Gonzales, who took fourth in the discus and shot respectively; Ray Miller, another sophomore, carried off third in the 100 yard dash and broad jump; while Rolland Stone, the only junior on the team, pulled down a second in the low hurdles. Robert Hernandez and William Cranford also took third places in the 880 and pole vault respectively; and the Colton relay team, composed of Chris Ruiz, Pat Gonzales, Robert Hernandez, and Ray Miller, won their event by a comfortable margin.

With a single exception, this year's 60 point squad was composed of lower classmen, who will become mainstays on the varsity teams of the future. Cranford and Stone will probably return to the lightweight squad next year and, with a year's experience, should be sure place winners.

Top row: Coach Fawley, W. Bailey, W. Watson, I. Castle, J. Gonzales, Principal D. H. McIntosh. Second row: T. Schletzer, A. Crunk, E. Weiser (C), G. Maltzberger, E. Hough.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

Last spring Colton's baseball squad swept through to a Tri-County championship, winning six games and losing none. They entered the divisional play-offs of the C. I. F. and, after engaging in some thrilling scrimmages, emerged the victors, thus becoming the first Southern California champions ever turned out by Colton High.

Due to a forfeiture from Banning and a win over Fallbrook High School, the Yellow Jackets were entitled to meet the San Diego Hilltoppers for the second time in two years. San Diego showed their class when, in the early stages of the game, they converted several errors into a four-run lead which they held until the eighth inning. In that canto the Yellow Jackets combined some walks, hits, and bunts, tallying five runs in one of the most sensational rallies ever staged on the local diamond. Fielding stars of the event were Captain Weiser, who made some spectacular stops at short, and Ivan Castle, who cut off the tying run in the ninth with a perfect peg from right field, leaving the final score 5-4.

As a fitting climax to a successful season, Citrus was defeated 4-3, in a tussle which once again produced some sensational playing. The locals held a 2-0 lead until the ninth inning when the Cougars tallied three times, making the score 3-2. In Colton's half of the final period, another spectacular garrison finish was staged. Crunk singled and scored on Castle's triple to deep center, and, a moment later, Hough drove a hit through the infield to count Castle, and the championship was Colton's!

VARSITY BASEBALL—1932

Passing through the league baseball season without losing a game, the Yellow Jackets, defending Southern California champions, annexed another Tri-County crown and, when this publication went to press, were preparing to meet Victorville in the first play-off. With the exception of Eddie Weiser and Ted Schletzer, 1931 graduates, the team was comprised of the same players who carried Colton through to the championship last season.

March 22 saw the opening of the practice schedule, when the locals defeated Riverside, 18-2. In subsequent encounters Riverside was again defeated twice, March Field was cleaned three times, Captain Maltzberger pitched a no-hit-no-run game against Redlands High, but the Terriers came back to win a second game; the University of Redlands was defeated once and emerged victorious from two other games, the Junior College Indians tied the Jackets 1-1, and the Santa Fe apprentices were defeated.

In the conference frays, Corona almost upset the dope by holding the Colton squad to a 2-1 score. The other games on the schedule, with Bonita, Chino, and Claremont, were taken by Coach Fawley's men with scores of 6-1, 14-1, and 21-4, respectively. In a post-season tilt, the Yellow Jackets were defeated 8-5 by the Colton Merchants.

Gordon Maltzberger, stellar pitcher, who was selected Captain of the 1932 nine, handled most of the hurling, being assisted at times by Neilson and Watson. Crunk was on the receiving end of the battery. The infield was composed of Watson, Bailey, Gonzales, and Hough; while Castle, Templeton, and Schmid made up the outfield.

Schmid held the highest batting average for the season, and will have his name engraved on the Gilbert Trophy.

BOYS' TENNIS

In the past, tennis has been considered a minor sport by Colton High students, and the season has not been greeted with a great deal of enthusiasm. However, prospects were so bright at the beginning of the 1932 schedule that the matches were anticipated with a great deal more pep than usual.

Four lettermen, Walter Huckabay, Paul Willems, Lester Malone, and Ted Maxwell, returned from last year's squad, and, with the addition of some others who had shown outstanding tennis ability, Coach Fawley was able to put a formidable group of racket twirlers on the courts in the league contests.

The results of the first tilt were somewhat disappointing, Corona making a clean sweep of the entire group of matches. Bonita also put a damper on the spirits of the locals by cleaning all but the second doubles team.

But the next week told a different story. Chino came to Colton and returned with a defeat registered against them. In the last league tussle Claremont was defeated and, as a result of the series, Corona became league champion, while Colton tied with Bonita and Chino for second place. Claremont failed to climb from the cellar position.

Walter Huckabay and Bill Beltz played first and second singles; Harry Hough and Everette Newton alternated at third; while Dana Jones and Carl Bliss did likewise at fourth. The first and second doubles teams were composed of Ted Maxwell and Lester Malone, and Paul Willems and Nathaniel Helman, respectively.

Maxwell, Malone, Willems, Helman, and Huckabay composed the group of lettermen, only one of whom will return to the team next year. However, it is hoped that another good team will be developed.

Ted Maxwell won the annual tournament and will have his name engraved on the school cup for the second consecutive time.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

In 1928 the Girls' Athletic Association was organized with eighty-four members, past presidents being Ione Lee, Charlotte Jones, and Petrine LeCorte.

Officers for the current year were: Leona Simonds, president; Frances McKenney, vice-president; Betty LeLansky, secretary-treasurer; and Miss M. Jeannette Parkinson, adviser.

Sport leaders for the year were: Betty LeLansky, basketball; Kathleen Beckner, volleyball; Veda Buffum, handball; Dorotha Corgill, tennis; Katherine Van Derpoel, speedball; and Madalyn Bridges, baseball.

To be eligible for this organization, a girl must earn 100 points. When 350 digits are attained, a golden "C" is awarded, and for 1000 points, a sweater. Senior girls having 700 points receive a pin; those having 1500, a guarded pin.

This year play-days were held as follows: Bonita, basketball; Claremont, volleyball; Corona, speedball; and Claremont, baseball. Track play-day failed to materialize on account of lack of interest in other schools.

At Bonita, the "frosh" and "sophies" were victorious in basketball. In the volleyball tilts at Claremont, the same groups again brought home blue ribbons. In the speedball games at Corona, all teams won except the sophomores, who lost their hard fought game by a single point.

On May 27, the annual G. A. A. banquet was held. At this time sweaters and letters earned during the year were presented, and the retiring and incoming officers gave speeches.

In the school trophy case are two plaques, one of which was given by the Colton Women's Club for high point girl, and the other for the winning team of inter-class track. The latter was donated by the Girls' League. The class of '33 for the past two years has had numerals inscribed thereon. Leona Simonds and Betty LeLansky had their names written on the Women's Club plaque for 1931.

Summing up the accomplishments of the association, from every view point, the year has been successful, sixty-one ribbons having been won at three play-days.

IN APPRECIATION

In producing an annual it is necessary to have the cooperation of the entire school and community. For this reason the editor takes pleasure in dedicating a page to those who have given their whole-hearted support in making the undertaking a success. A sincere vote of thanks is extended to all who assisted in the project.

Editorial staff. Due to the faithful endeavors of the group and the adviser, Mrs. Ella G. Hertel, a lasting record of the school year has been edited and published.

Business staff. Because of the splendid cooperation of Miss Elizabeth McNeill and her assistants, the finances of this volume were kept within their limitations.

Art department. Credit is due to Mrs. Helen I. McDaniel and her staff for the fine art work within these pages.

Representatives of outside establishments. Owing to the aid of Jack Cannicott of the Commercial Art and Engraving Company, E. Deo Paul of the Sun Printing and Publishing House, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Britain of Britain's Studio, and the Weber-McCrea Company, a superior publication has been made possible.

Organizations. The senior class and other groups within the school lent their support whenever called upon.

Typing students. In periods of stress, these people gave generously of their time in the preparation of copy.

Advertisers. Without the aid of the business men of the community and surrounding territory, this book could not have been published.

Associations. To the following: Alaska Steamship Company, Oregon Motor Association, Automobile Club of Southern California, and the Motor Transit Company, appreciation is extended for the use of cuts in the literary section.

Student Body. Whenever the school shall fail to work as a unit in producing the yearbook, then this annual publication will have to be discontinued. However, on viewing the splendid way in which the members came through with subscriptions during this period of so-called stress, it is doubtful that a year will ever come when Colton Union High School will be forced to abandon the Crimson and Gold.

ACTIVITIES

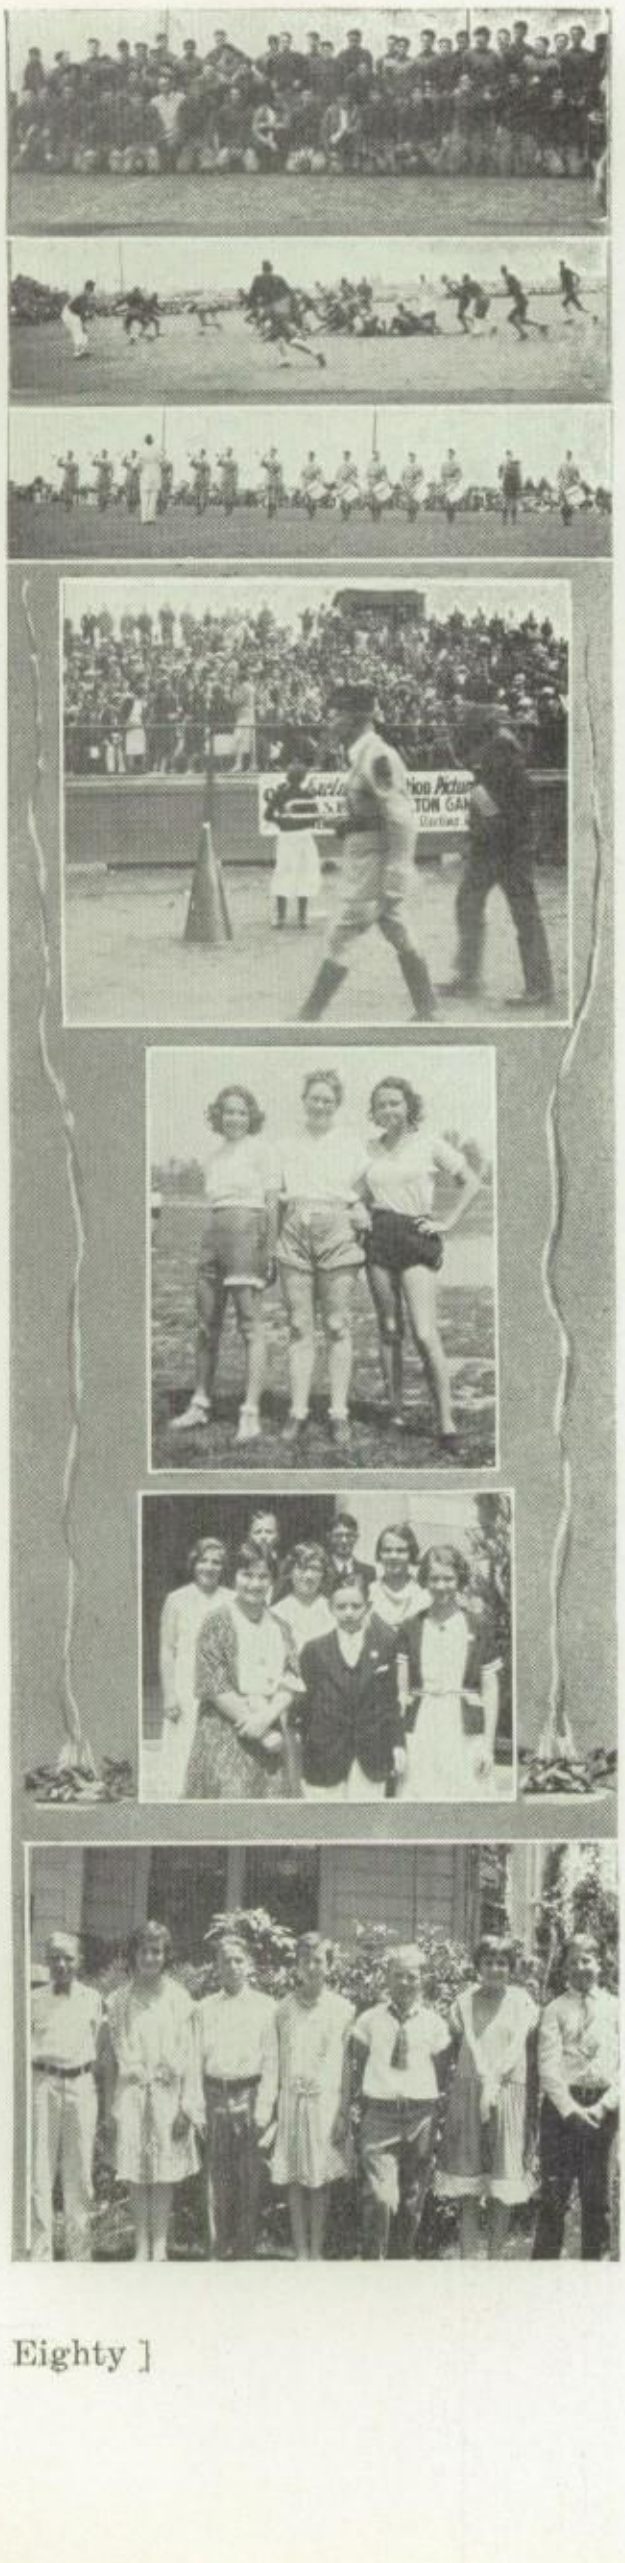
SEPTEMBER

14. C. U. H. S. opens its gates to the thundering herd.
15. Trembling Hough makes debut at first assembly.
22. A. S. B. officers introduce themselves.
24. Frosh wear green bibs.
25. Initial appearance of Pepper Bough. It was a Wow!

OCTOBER

2. Colton dumped by La Verne Frosh, 6-0.
7. Senior play cast selected for "Adam's Apple."
8. Femmes don pajamas at Jap dance; no boys allowed. Oh, heck!
9. Colton severely gonked by Chaffey, 20-0.
16. Colton Yellow Jackets get a wild hare and drub Corona, 28-6, in the first league game.
19. New Hi-Y members initiated by wearing green arm bands, bowing before the Almighty Faculty, talking to no girls, and being frequently paddled.
21. Bonfire rally for Bonita game.
    Surpentine and tug-o-war between juniors and seniors. Juniors win!
23. Shucks! Bonfire wasted. We chased Bonita's trained Bearcats all over the field to the tune of 28-6.
28. Capt. Hugh Voorhies gargles a few bird songs at first pay assembly.
29. Chemistry Club holds treasure hunt.



30. Roped Chino's Cowboys and rode them. 26-0.

31. Faculty holds mountain party at Camp Baldy; some very interesting and new developments.

NOVEMBER

2. Hi-Y members show skill in guzzling spaghetti.

9. National Education Week. Oh, heck! Now we have to study for a week.

10. G. Maltzberger chosen as Chamber of Commerce delegate.

11. Armistice game with Berdoo's Cardinals. Beautiful sunshiny day for a football game; not a sign of rain (Ha! joke!). Anyway we stung the Cardinals and "Vince" skidded around them for a touchdown; then Castle got a swell kick for the extra point. Score: Colton 7; Berdoo, 0.

12. Final Essay Contest. Weynard Bailey, the Champ of All Essayers, wins by a knockout.

13. Yellow Jackets beat Claremont in last league game. Hurrah! We take Tri-County Championship.

17. A swell movie "flicker" of South Sea Islanders. Whoopee!

19. Juniors stage a Matinee Hop. Everybody had a grand time.

20. Interclass Basketball won by Junior Girls.
Faculty stage progressive dinner.
All senior pictures taken for annual.

21. Girls' Play Day at Bonita. Such infants!

21. Yellow Jackets give Victorville a severe spanking in first All-Southern play-off. Score: 19-0.

24. Girls' League pay assembly. Good program. Worth ten cents of any man's money.

26. Thanksgiving Day Game with Redlands. Ran over them for the score of 28-0. Redlands has "some" yell leaders. Oh, Boy!

30. Eleven boys admitted to Hi-Y.
New material to work on!

DECEMBER

1. Annual year-book skit. Everybody promises to order an annual.

4. Senior Play. First league debate. Maude and Rolland score a 3-0 decision over San Berdoo. Bruce and Everette lose to Pomona, 2-1. News hounds trek to press convention and come home with new Ideas.

5. Final game in All-Southern play-off with Citrus. Yellow Jackets had a hard time skinning those Cougar Lemon pickers, winning by one touchdown.

7. New Hi-Y members initiated.

16. Christmas vacation and Christmas play. Boy, oh, boy! Who says there ain't no Santa Claus?

JANUARY

4. School starts. 'Nuff said.

7. Cameron Beck, connected with the personnel department of the New York Stock Exchange, gives a very interesting talk in assembly.

11. Hawaiian Pictures given through the courtesy of the Gilmore Oil Co. There's Gilmore now! Grrrrowl.

15. Snow storm and fight out in front of school. McIntosh supervises construction of snow man. First Basketball league game . . . Corona vs. Colton. "A's"—Colton, 23; Corona, 19; "B's"—Colton, 13; Corona 21.

22. Casaba tossers grapple Bonita Bearcats at Jaysee Gym. Our Yellow Jackets get scratched. Think little or nothing of it.

27. School dismissed on account of 'flu "depalemic". It sure is a poor vacation for some of us.

29. Played Chino at Chino. ('Nuff said!) Colton Varsity suffers defeat, 16-6. The Lighties didn't fare so well either.

FEBRUARY

1. School opens. Oh, me!

5. 1921 Championship Basketball team play 1932 Yellow Jackets to a close score. 1921'ers, 18; 1932'ers, 19.

8. Morningstar tells how he shot all the world's Big Shots at assembly.

26. Senior Dance and Dress-Up Day. Some very well dressed Gentlemen and Ladies presented themselves at shin-dig after school.

27. Orange Show Relays. Colton takes a close 2nd in B Class.

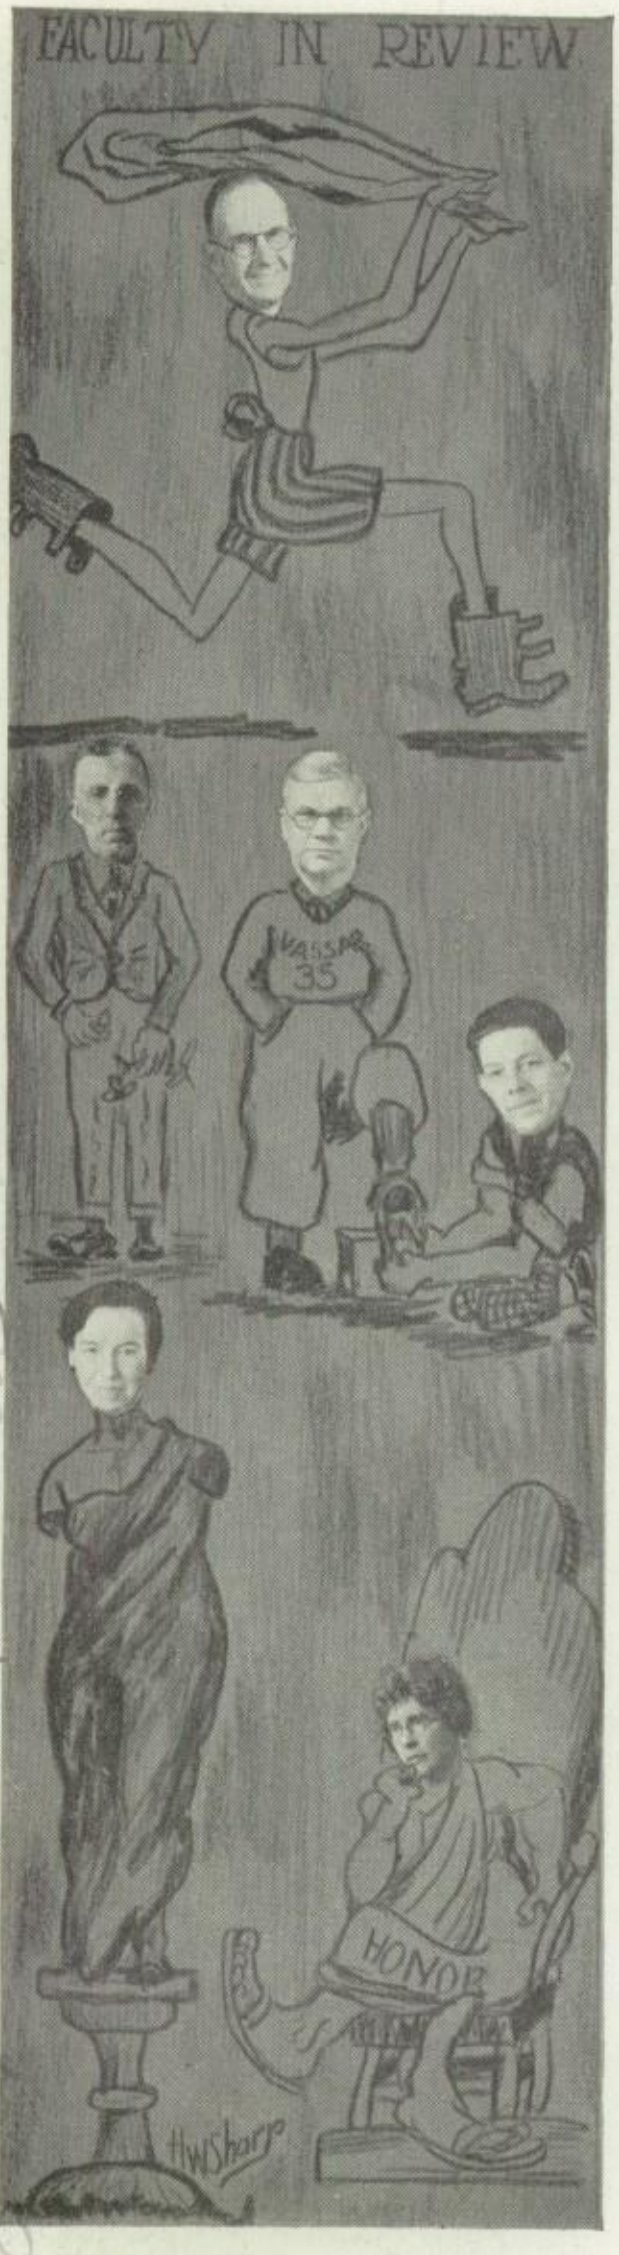
MARCH

8. Tree planting and Flag ceremony in front of school. Class Presidents dedicate their favorite trees with great solemnity.

11. School Operetta, "Oh, Doctor!" goes over big. Some very touching love scenes thrill big audience.
12. Triangular meet with Riverside and Coachella at Riverside. As usual Colton thinclads run away with the meet by a big margin.
19. Colton tracksters sprint home to victory over the Tri-County teams. The meet was held on the fast Riverside oval and some very good time was made in all of the events. This is the 8th consecutive Tri-County Championship for the locals.
21. Play cast selected for A. S. B. production, "Kick In."

APRIL

1. All Fools' Day. Our track team journeys to Los Angeles to tackle Oxy Frosh and Alhambra Hi. The meet was tied between Colton and Alhambra up to the relay, and Alhambra took first in that event with Colton running a very close second.
5. Oratorical Contest. Maguire carries off 1st honors.
6. Our racquet wielders journey to Corona and suffer a "sizzling" defeat.
11. March Field horse hiders tackle Colton Varsity here. Boy! Did the girls turn out for that game! Yellow Jackets downed March Fielders, 11-1.
12. Another aggregation from March Field challenge Yellow Jackets. This group also was taken to the cleaners. Our Girls' League puts on a program for Berdoo High.
15. First league baseball game with Corona, here. Yellow Jackets had hard time skinning those Circle City pill pasters. Chemistry and physics classes journey to Cal-Tech for Exhibit Day.
16. Chaffey Invitational track-meet.
26. Exhibit night.



MAY

3. Nominations from floor for A. S. B officers.
6. Declamatory Contest.
8. Mothers' Day.
9. Redlands University program in assembly.
13. Girls' Play Day at Chino.
20. A. S. B. Play, "Kick In."
24. Verse speaking chorus from San Jose State College. Gives very interesting and different program in assembly.
25. High School Day at J. C.
27. G. A. A. Annual Banquet.
30. Memorial Day Vacation. Such a relief!

JUNE

3. Junior-Senior Prom.
5. Baccalaureate.
6. Class night.
8. Senior Breakfast.
9. Commencement Exercises.
10. Rotary luncheon. School year ended.
